

Keewatin Shore Watch

Volunteers looking after the shoreline and the water around Kenora.

A word from the board

We had more people out on Saturday mornings this year than we had boats for, which is a good problem. Thank you to everyone who pulled tires out of the shallows, sat through a lab night, or lent us a canoe.

What we did

Clean-ups on the main beaches every month from May to October, and two island days by boat. Planting nights on the Laurenson Creek trail, where the bank is washing out. Water testing off the public docks every Tuesday through the summer.

Water testing

Samples go to a lab, and we keep every result. When a reading looks wrong, we tell the town first and post it on our page after. Ask us if you'd like the full list.

Money in and money out

Where the money came from

Donations from people	most of it
A grant for the planting program	about a third
The pancake breakfast and the AGM potluck	the rest

Where it went

Lab fees for water samples
Native shrubs and stakes
Gloves, bags and grabbers
Insurance and the office

How to help

Come to a clean-up, give through our donation page, or sign up for our volunteer emails. Gifts of $20 or more get a tax receipt by email.
